CHURCH NEWS

Today we welcome Connor Tsui (cello) from Credo as he shares his musical talents with us at our Traditional services. Credo Music, a non-profit organization based in Oberlin, Ohio develops young musicians - musically, personally, and spiritually - to prepare them for lives of music and service. Credo offers high-level musical training opportunities in Oberlin and around the country, taught by some of the finest faculty in the classical music world.

The Credo experience goes beyond technical development, encouraging students to pursue personal excellence on par with their pursuit of instrument mastery. Out of a posture of acknowledging God as the source of the gift of music Credo students respond by serving their communities, both through music and through other forms of labor. This summer 102 students from 27 states and 4 countries will participate in Credo programs. Visit www.credomusic.org/concerts/ to see a complete list of the performances taking place in July!
